

NubeSoft — Miami, FL, USA

Subject: Need help building out our support team ASAP

Hey there,

We're NubeSoft, a small SaaS startup based in Miami — about 35 people right now, growing fast. Our customers are complaining about slow support response times and honestly none of us are support people, we're all engineers and sales.

We think we need something like 12 support agents covering us 24/7, but we have no idea how outsourcing something like that actually works or what it costs. Could someone put together a proposal for us?

We're hoping to have someone in place within about 3 weeks if possible — say by August 23rd — our investors are asking questions about our support metrics.

Best,

Derek Coleman
